Junior High records damaged in arson

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Norman Cowart, state fire marshal, stated Wednesday, "this was an incendiary fire - arson is suspected," as he sifted through ashes on the desk of Bay Junior High Principal W. J. Cameron.

The fire, allegedly set in the early hours of Tuesday morning, was discovered by Clarence Price, building custodian at 7:40 a.m. as he arrived at work, Tuesday.

Cameron had been on vacation and arrived on the scene Tuesday night. Bay Junior High previously was set afire on November 10, 1977, according to Bay fire officials. A passerby notified the Department which put out the blaze with only minor damages at that time.

Cameron's desk was covered with ashes, the telephone was completely destroyed. A thick plate glass on the desk top splintered which according to officials, probably saved the building.

"It is a terrible thing to be greeted with on my return from a vacation. We will have to do duplicate work, first we have to find out what paper work is missing. If they find those who did this, I hope they do something to them," stated Cameron.

The known work destroyed which Cameron was referring to was two eight grade schedules and possibly others.

David Sellier, Bay St. Louis Police Department Investigator, checked for finger prints throughout the offices.

Capt. Mike Willumites of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department, on seeing the burned papers said, "This is a case for the State Fire Marshall," implying a suspicion of arson.

The office of Roger James, assistant principal, had drawers opened and Health Dept. urges early shot compliance

Dr. Louis H. Jobe Jr., director, Hancock County Health Department, is asking all parents with children in grades 1 through 8 in schools throughout the County to get their immunization compliance papers for the first day of school.

"Everyone should come as soon as possible to avoid the rush of mid August and registration day," Dr. Jobe urged. Teachers who have not had their registration certificates renewed for the coming school year are asked to do so before the end of August.

Starting Monday, the Health Department will have immunization clinic five days a week through Thursday, August 10, in order to take care of all school age children who have to complete immunization requirements for entering school.

Clinic hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. Phone number is 467-4510.

Council re-fires engineers

City contract still valid, Burk & Associates claims

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis City Council terminated the contract between the City and Burk and Associates for the second time Tuesday night.

A lenth motion to that effect by Council President James Triffillee was seconded by Councilmen Peter Benvenuti, Harry Favre, Wilmer Seymour and Fred Wagner in unison.

At June 6 meeting the Council was also unanimous in termination Burk and Associates as Engineers with the exception of "continuing services on projects currently under construction."

Michael Haas, attorney representing Burk and Associates, contends the contract signed by the previous administration in 1973 is still binding on the present administration and cannot be terminated.

Councilmen Pete Benvenuti asked "Is it possible for a prior group to sign a contract to be binding on another group, I don't think it is possible."

Haas said the engineering contract entered into by the previous administration is concerned with the Federal 201 program which is not complete. The 201 program is now in Phase Two. "Who authorized that contract?" asked Councilman Fred Wagner.

"My impression is the City contracted certain jobs and I think it's wise to end that contract when it breaks down."

George Klienpeter, Burk and Associates representative, replied, "The City has received any bills for the search for funds. We went out into the field with EPA and tried to find other monies without a large bond issue. For this the City has not paid a nickel."

Bay St. Louis legal counsel Joseph Gex said concerning the contract, "I haven't had a chance to review the contract, I would like to review the contract (1973) and get back with Mr. Haas. If the Burk contracts are valid, the Broadway and Seal and Brown contracts with the City are invalid."

"I don't see how one administration can bind a later administration," stated Councilman Harry Favre.

"This Council no longer has any faith in Burk and Associates; either you (Burk and Associates) bow out, or nothing will be done on sewage in Bay St. Louis for the next three years," added Councilman Benvenuti.

Haas said "The Council has no authority, the matter is in the hands of the Executive Department of the City through the Mayor". But one councilman stated, "The money still has to be paid by the Council".

Councilman Wilmer Seymour, who had been quiet until this time, addressed the Council and Burk representatives, saying he feels the Council and Burk can no longer work together. Seymour called for a compromise.

"Burk is a large firm. They have a lawyer, we have a lawyer, but these two groups won't agree," he said.

Seymour continued, "I assure you this body is not going to work with you, and I am not going to sit there for

Burk, Council in lengthy fee hassel

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis City Council questioned engineering bills from Burk and Associates totaling $48,007 for almost two hours at its Tuesday night meeting, turning one and a half hours past its appointed meeting deadline of 9:30 p.m.

Some $17,834 is the City share of that total with federal and state funds due to cover the balance of $30,173.

Indications were made throughout the lengthy meeting that the bills had been previously discussed on Monday, July 10, after a recess meeting was adjourned and the press asked to leave.

Michael Haas represented Burk and Associates as legal counsel. Jim Armbruster, vice-president and treasurer of Burk and Associates, George Klienpeter, John Holtgreve and Charles Hill also represented the engineers.

Some of the bills Burk claimed are owed by the City were from the previous administration.

Burk was questioned by the Council on the amount of hours charged on some of the projects. Several of the bills were approved to be paid by the City on the next docket or when funds are available.

There were several bills the Council wanted to study more before approving payment.

Council also questioned the high cost of engineering fees on several of the bills.

Burk representatives told Council they could supply any additional information needed and that the bills were all within limits of the contracts the firm hold with the City for various projects.

Board approves school budget of $2.4 million

The Bay St. Louis City Council will receive a proposed 1978-1979 school budget of $2,390,726 from the Bay Municipal Separate School District.

The operating and maintenance budget was approved by the school district's board of trustees at a meeting this week.

Lameduck trustee Jean Townsend of Waveland, who has resigned her post in a family move to Washington State, registered the lone voice of opposition to the proposed budget.

Ms. Townsend said she feels the proposals deserve further study.

According to Superintendent J. D. McCulloch, the budget, up slightly less than $500,000 from last year's total expenditures of $1,932,000, remains within the allowed millage.

The local district will be asked to contribute $746,000, which is $29,000 more than last year's portion of the budget, and a 4.5 percent increase from local sources. The district contributed $717,000 to the 1977-78 school budget.

McCulloch said, "Although McCulloch told the board he asked the teachers to submit a conservative list, the budget also reflects the teachers' want list, which includes supplies and classroom materials."

North Bay Elementary was allowed $500 for physical education equipment and $3,019 for classroom supplies. Waveland Elementary was allowed $300 for physical education equipment and $1,749 for classroom supplies. Bay Senior High will receive $1,900 for home economics, $442 for distributive education, $1,800 for driver's education, $1,200 for physical education equipment and $4,260 for classroom supplies.

Bay Junior High will receive $1,000 for home economics, $3,500 for industrial arts (shop), $1,000 for physical education equipment and $5,500 for classroom supplies.

Special Education allowances for Bay Senior High is $1,000, Bay Junior High is $1,750 and North Bay is $1,742.

In other business, the board adopted a policy change which will permit employees to have their pay checks automatically deposited by the bookkeeper at the banks of their choice.

The board also authorized a $438 raise to W. J. Cameron for the 1978-79 school term. The motion to raise the junior high school principal's salary was made by Waveland's elected representative, Walter Turcotte, and approved by a three-to-one vote. Mrs. Townsend voted against the raise.

AND THE DISCUSSION GOES ON - Bay St. Louis City Council discussed engineering fees with representatives of Burk and Associates until 10:53 p.m. Tuesday. Council has a 9:30 closing time but were already in discussion on the bills and continued until they approved or held over some for future study. James Triffillee, left, council president; Harry Favre, councilman; Council Attorney Joseph Gex; Michael Haas, front left, representing Burk and Associates; and Jim Armbruster, vice-president and treasurer of Burk, are listening to Haas make a point. Depreo indicted in murder case

Charles Edward "Chuck" Depreo, 18, of Kiln has been indicted for the April 18 murder of Janice Ladner and aggravated assault on her six year old daughter, Joy Lynn, both also of Kiln.

In addition, Depreo has also been indicted for arson in connection with burning of the Ladner residence the same night.

Depreo was allegedly at home on leave from the Navy when the crimes were committed. After a lengthy investigation by Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Highway Patrol investigators and numerous police departments, Depreo was arrested in Norfolk, Va.

He was turned over to the sheriff by the Navy.

Depreo was serving aboard the USS Independence at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Arraignment is scheduled on July 28 in Circuit Court Judge Floyd J. Logan's court.

The Grand Jury Tuesday returned 29 indictments in 34 criminal cases it considered, passed none to the next grand jury, and referred four to other courts. One case was stricken from the docket.

Also indicated was Fritz Garcia, 22, of Bay Side Park in the July 13 rape of a 19-year old Bay Side Park woman. Other indictments include:

Emmett O. Bull, 43 and Diana Kaye Johnson, 20, both of Shoreline Park on four counts of possession of controlled substances including 152.3 grams of marijuana, codeine in combination with acetaminophen, amphetamine and phenacyclidine. They are also charged with planting, cultivating and growing three marijuana plants.

Sonny Thomas Miles, 24 of Piquemine was indicted for the May 29 aggravated assault; William J. Doyle, 18, of Pearlinton on five counts of arson in the Pearlinton area; between November, 1977 and January 1978, Richard Shimler, 36 of Bay St. Louis, in the Dec. 29, 1977, assault on a Bay St. Louis law enforcement officer while acting within the scope of his duty; Walt Debenport, 23, and Mike Barishin, 18, both of New Orleans, in the Feb. 13 burglary and larceny of Gulf Thrifty Drug Store in Bay St. Louis.

A copy of the grand jury report appears on page 3-A of this issue.

USM Foundation establishes fund honoring Guice

A scholarship program has been established by the University of Southern Mississippi Foundation in memory of Katherine L. Guice.

Miss Guice graduated with a master's degree in social work from the New York School of Social Work, Columbia University, in 1942. During the late 1940's she worked as a child welfare worker and as director of Field Service and Training for the Mississippi Department of Public Welfare.

During the 1950's, she served on the staff of St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Jackson and on the National Council of the Episcopal Church in New York.

She returned to her native Mississippi as director of Social Work at Mississippi State Hospital, a position she held until her retirement in 1976.

Miss Guice was one of the pioneers of professional social work in Mississippi. She served on the original committee evaluating the feasibility of a graduate school of social work at USM and continued her support and interest in the school until her death last month.

The Katherine L. Guice Scholarship program will serve as a permanent memorial with interest funds used annually to assist students working toward a degree in social work at Southern.

Donations for the scholarship fund may be sent to USM Foundation, Box 13, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, 39401.

Mini-quarter

pre-registration open at USM

Registration, to date, at the University of Southern Mississippi's scheduled "Mini-Quarter" summer sessions has reached an all-time high, according to Dr. Becky Brechtel, director of USM's High School and Junior College Relations.

"We're several hundred ahead at this point," said Brechtel of the first overnight session, which opens July 17. "However, there are some reservations remaining for the July 20-21, July 27-28 and July 31-Aug. 1 sessions and the Aug. 11 session."

Mini-Quarter is designed to acquaint new and transfer students, as well as adult students, with life at USM's campus. It is basically a pre-registration program.

Additional information and reservations may be made by calling 266-7111 and requesting Mini-Quarter as soon as possible, according to Brechtel.

Lobbyist reveals gloomy view of metric conversion

The newly named head of Americans Against Metrics Institute this month warned of "ominous consequences" for taxpayers and the economy if the Federal government continues to "foster conversion of standard measurement to the complicated metric system."

In an interview at the National Press Club, AAMI President Paul Plawin predicted heavier burdens for U.S. taxpayers as new metric government agencies are formed, and asserted that "use of metrics by industry will concoct fresh schemes for companies to gouge the already beleaguered American consumer."

"Even if you are not part of an industry forced to convert to metrics," said Plawin, "you will have to learn an entirely new language in your everyday life."

For instance, when on the highway, do you know how fast you're going in kilometers? When you shop, do you know how much you are paying per liter? In the kitchen, do your favorite recipes tell you how many kilos go in the bowl? Around your home, how do you measure in meters for repairs to a house built in feet?

The Americans Against Metrics Institute comprises concerned citizens nationwide who oppose conversion to metrics and seek to record their grievances as individuals with their elected representatives.

"Contrary to government propaganda," Plawin said, "metrics is a very difficult system to understand." "Further," he stated, "no country-including France, where metric measurement was started—has ever converted without being forced by government."

"Once we are metrically raped by Washington's bureaucrats," Plawin continued, "Gloomy economic results are a virtual certainty." He cited these dangers:

All factory employees will have to be trained to work with metrics, and to forego that retraining many companies may relocate overseas where the system is already in use. Lost jobs will be the outcome and corporate tax revenues will diminish.

It is very likely that much of industry will be required to import tools from abroad in order to achieve metric conversion. This will further decay our already decrepit balance of trade and continue to undermine the falling value of our dollar.

It is axiomatic that once metric conversion is underway, the prices of products and services will ratchet upward, adding more fuel to our currently rampant inflation.

President, Carter has asked for nearly a $95 million budget increase in 1979 for the National Bureau of Standards to underwrite metric research. If appropriated by Congress, it will be the largest dollar hike in the history of the Bureau.

"This is just the start—the cutting edge that guarantees higher taxes," declared Plawin. "If past experience accurately mirrors the future, total conversion to the metric system will inevitably be mandated by Congress, and we taxpayers once again will be big losers," he said.

In conclusion, Plawin urged membership in the Americans Against Metrics Institute: "This is the only means we possess to make our individual opinions heard collectively in Washington. This is the only way to spell doom to metric conversion—a system certainly no one needs; a system we can all live very nicely without."

Americans Against Metrics Institute is located at 900 National Press Building, Washington, D. C. 20045.

Ski restrictions partially lifted

Boaters will now be allowed to ski on park lakes five days a week at Percy Quin and Paul B. Johnson state parks, Park Commission Director Tom Edwards announced this week.

The park lakes will now be open to skiers using boat motors with 85 horsepower or less from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. For the present time, skiing will not be permitted in either lake on Monday and Tuesday.

Restrictions set last month at Paul B. Johnson allowed skiing on four days, including weekends, but with the additional day of Friday, the lake will be open five days. Water skiing on the Percy Quin lake has previously been limited to weekends but is now being permitted three additional days, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Edwards said the lighter restrictions are based on a recent inspection of the parks' dams by Park Commission engineering personnel. He said the personnel will continue to observe both dams during the next 30 days to determine if any changes are occurring in the physical structure of these dams which could be attributable to water skiing.

Edwards added that the change in restrictions is significant because the parks are two of the most popular in the state. He said Paul B. Johnson, south of Hattiesburg, and Percy Quin, near McComb attract many visitors from south Mississippi, as well as Louisiana and that the Park Commission is anxious to accommodate these visitors as much as the physical conditions of these earthen dams will safely permit.

Bell proposes information charges, basic rate cut

South Central Bell subscribers in Hancock County will pay 20 cents for each information call over a three-call per month allowance, under a plan submitted by the company this week to the Mississippi Service Commission.

Under the plan, the telephone company proposes to reduce the basic monthly rate by 50 cents per line, "thus shifting more of the cost of directory assistance service to the people who use it, the most," a company spokesman said.

"To understand why we have proposed this plan, you have to understand what an enormous job directory assistance has become," said F. M. Kyle Jr. of Gulfport, manager of South Central Bell's Mississippi Gulf Coast district.

"Today, the cost of providing the service is shared equally by all Mississippi telephone users, whether or not they ever call directory assistance," Kyle stated.

"Our operators are answering more than 300,000 directory assistance calls every weekday. Almost nine out of every 10 of those calls are for numbers that are already listed in the telephone directory. And just one-third of our customers make 90 percent of the calls," he said.

Kyle said many people have a mistaken idea about directory assistance.

"Some think of it as a free service. But this so-called 'free' service costs Mississippi telephone users almost a million dollars a month—and the cost is going up," he said.

"The number of calls to directory assistance is increasing at almost twice the rate of growth of the number of telephones served. We have tried many ways to slow the growth in directory assistance calls," he said.

"We've given out quick-reference lists, we've reminded people to look in the book, we even changed the name of the service from Information to Directory Assistance—but nothing has worked."

What it boils down to is this: we have a lot of equipment, a lot of people and a lot of money tied up in providing a service that some people use a great deal more than others do. But right now, all customers share the cost.

"To my way of thinking, this new plan would be more fair," Kyle said.

"Under our proposal, those who use directory assistance the most would pay a greater share of the cost."

Here is how Bell's plan would work, as outlined by Kyle:

—The basic rate for a home or business telephone line would drop by 50 cents a month.

—Included in the lower basic rate would be a monthly allowance of three directory assistance calls.

—If you exceed your three-call allowance, a 20-cent charge would be applied for each additional directory assistance call made during the monthly billing period.

—For each in-state long distance call completed from and charged to your telephone during a billing month, you could make one in-state long distance directory assistance call (obtained by dialing 1 plus 555-12-12) without charge and without having it apply to your three-call allowance.

—People who have physical handicaps that prevent them from using a directory would be exempt from any director assistance charges; so would hospital patients, hotel and motel guests, coin telephone customers, and people calling directory assistance for numbers outside Mississippi.

Lyle pointed out that experience in other Bell System locations where similar plans have been in use for some time indicates that about nine out of ten Mississippi customers would not exceed the three-call allowance.

"That means nine out of ten of our customers would have lower monthly telephone bills," he said. "Obviously, the vast majority of consumers would benefit from this plan, which will provide a much fairer way for our customers to pay for directory assistance," Kyle said.

"Those who use it less would pay less for their telephone service," he emphasized.

Kyle pointed out that although the new plan is expected to result in a substantial decrease in the number of calls to directory assistance, projections based on past employee turnover rates indicate the company will be able to place at least 90 percent of any affected directory assistance operators in other jobs at their present locations.

"However, if the plan is approved we should have to add fewer operators in the future due to the anticipated drop in directory assistance calls," Kyle said. "This would keep the cost of telephone service in the future lower than it otherwise would be."

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas

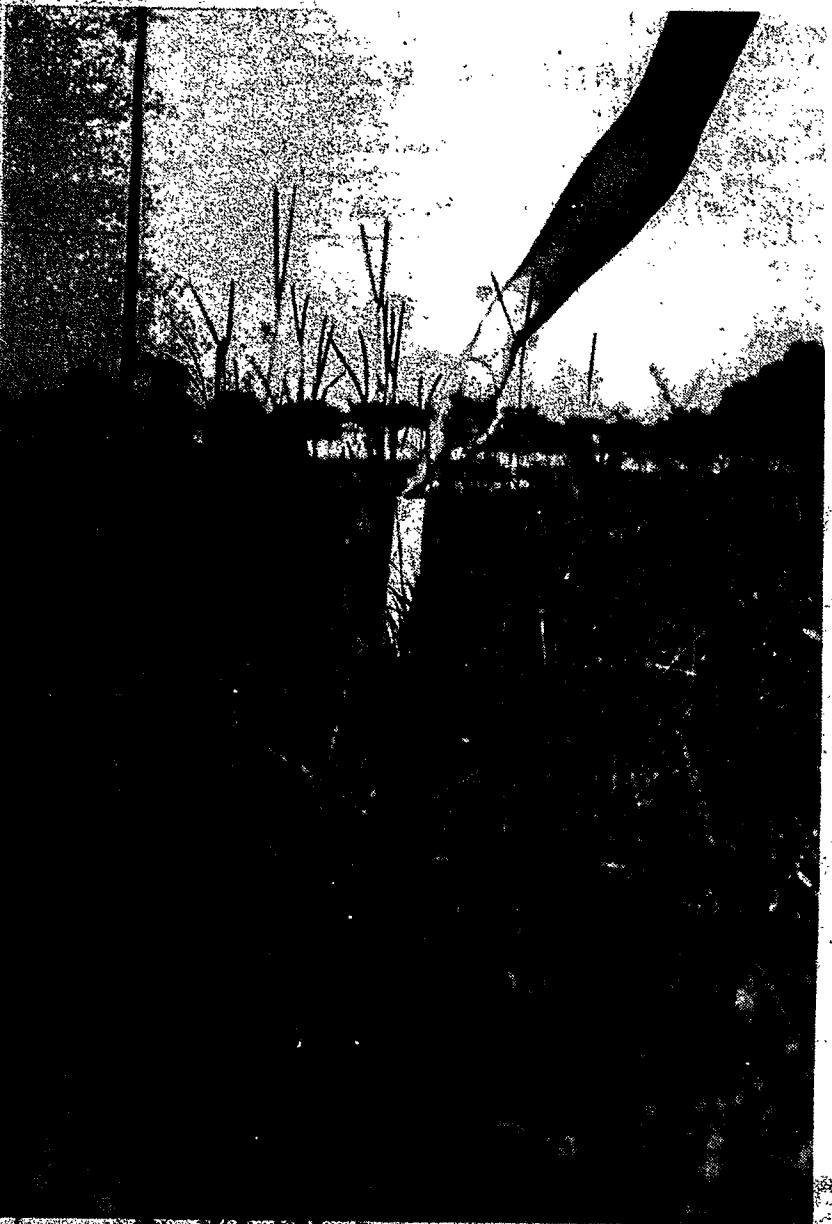

Is the mower broken?

We have been getting complaints about the high grass conditions in Bay St. Louis Ball Parks for several weeks.

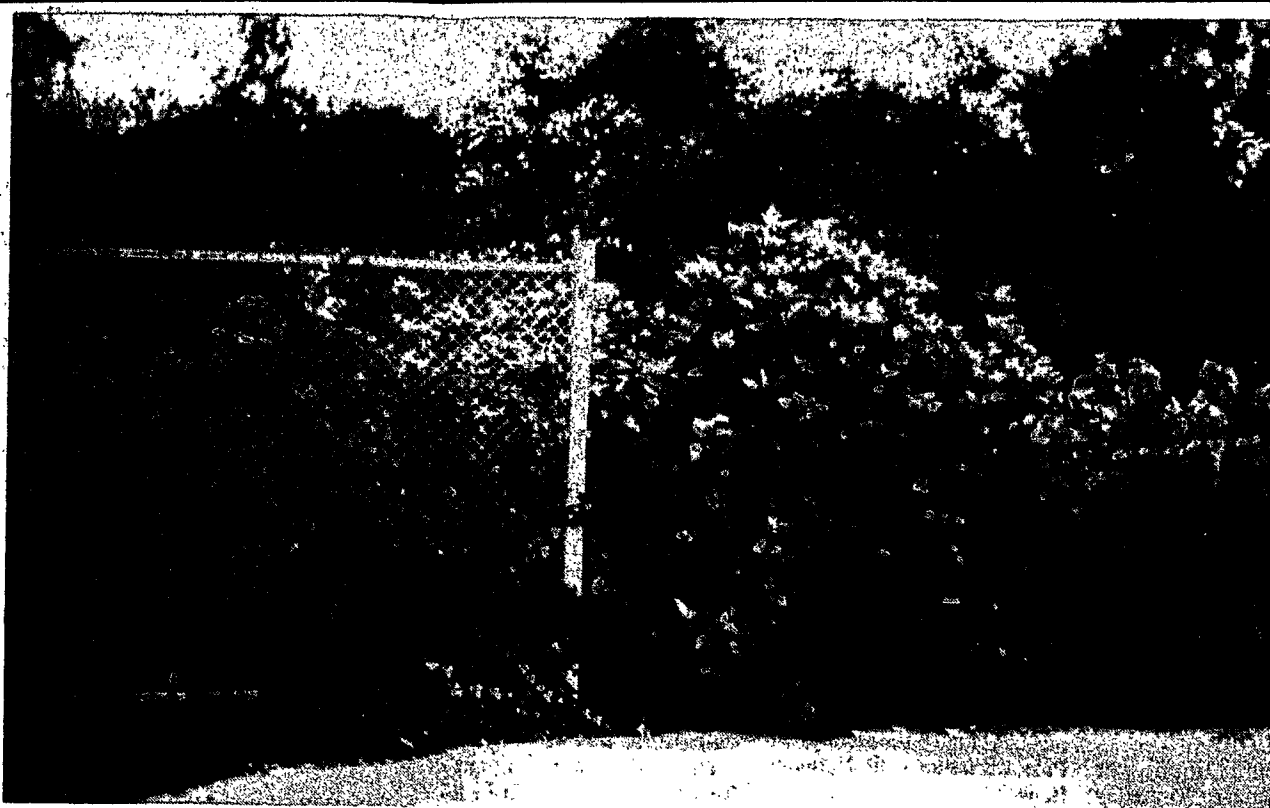

Monday of this week, we were told of an instance where a softball was lost for awhile in the outfield of Commagere Ball Park.

As the photo above, taken on Monday, shows, the people complaining have a right to complain. In certain areas of the outfield a basketball could be lost.

The Bay St. Louis ball parks are used by residents of all ages and if the Parks and Playgrounds department drags its feet in doing their job - then, the Bay St. Louis City Council should want to know why?

THE OUTFIELD - The 12-inch ruler is hardly visible a little past second base in the outfield of Commagere Park. The grass hasn't been cut for sometime and we have been getting complaints from ball players for several weeks. This photo was taken Monday and on Wednesday the grass was still climbing. We are told the City's Parks and Playgrounds Department is responsible for maintenance of Bay St. Louis Parks. Bay City Council should look into the lack of care given the city's parks. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

ANOTHER CITY PLAYGROUND - The weeds are over this eight foot high fence at the Washington Street Playground. Residents across the street in the Washington Street Project say it has been many weeks since the grass has been cut. Bay Councilman Harry Favre told the Council Tuesday night the park is one of the most used in the City. Council President James Thriffliley replied that the Parks and Playgrounds Department was given an increase of $7,000 in its budget this year. The many people who use the Washington Street Park wonder if Parks and Playgrounds personnel are ever going to cut the grass and weeds. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas) another three years doing nothing." "We will never work with Burk and Associates. We can argue all day, but I have sat in this position for one year and it hasn't worked. I think we ought to seek a compromise, we just can't work with Burk and Associates," added Seymour.

Klienpeter reminded Council that under the 201 Program, the City would receive 75 percent federal funding on work in the City. "It is the same program all over the nation," he added.

There was some discussion by the Council as to just what the 201 program has done for the city and the Council could secure a long range plan or the program from Burk and Associates. Burk representatives insisted the firm has given the City everything it ever requested.

Thriffliley made the following motion on the contract termination:

"The key to an effective and beneficial relationship between the City and a consultant is an atmosphere of mutual and unconditional trust, confidence, and concern for the general well-being of the community. The City now finds that these conditions - conditions necessary to the completion of work in a satisfactory manner - no longer exist between the City and Burk Associates.

Further, the City finds that the degradation of the relationship between the City and Burk and Associates was not caused by circumstances beyond the control of the Engineer.

Specifically, the city refers to vague and inaccurate presentations to the Council, the difficulty which individual members of the Council have had in getting complete information from the Engineer, the slowness with which projects are brought to fruition, and engineering services the cost of which seems incommensurate with their value to the City.

Therefore, the City hereby terminates the agreement with Burk and Associates, entered into on October 3, 1973, concerning the City's drainage system, on the grounds described in Section 6, Item 2, of the agreement, found beginning in Minute Book 13, page 328.

The City hereby terminates the agreement with Burk and Associates entered into on December 12, 1973, concerning the City's sewerage system, on the grounds described in Section 7, Item 2 of the agreement.

The City finds further grounds for the termination of this agreement, the intent being that the Engineer provide ALL services outlined in Section 2, Parts B, C, D, E, and F of the agreement for a fee of 7.53 per cent of the net construction cost of sewerage improvements in Bay St. Louis.

The lump sum engineering fee for "Sanitary Sewer Improvements to Bouslog Street, Victorea Street, and Turner Street" was far in excess of 7.53 percent of the net construction cost, and therefore in violation of the intent of the agreement, found beginning in Minute Book 14, Page 6.

The City hereby terminates the agreement with Burk and Associates found beginning in Minute Book 14, page 14, concerning the small boat launching facilities, marina, and fishing pier, on the grounds described in Section 6, Item 2 of the agreement.

The City hereby terminates the agreement with Burk and Associates dated February 4, 1974, concerning a small boat launching facility, marina, and fishing pier, on the grounds described in Feb. 4, 1974, of the agreement, found beginning in Minute Book 14 page 74, section 6 paragraph No. 2.

The City hereby terminates the agreement with Burk and Associates, entered into on December 16, 1974, concerning the City's street system, on the grounds described in Section 6, Item 2 of the agreement, found beginning in Minute Book 15, page 145.

The City hereby terminates the agreement with Burk and Associates, entered into on November 23, 1977, concerning the pedestrian overpass at US Highway 90 and Dumbarr Avenue, on the grounds described in Section X, Item b of the agreement, found beginning in Minute Book 1, page 110. In the long meeting Council took a five minute break after voting on the motion.

Section 6, Item 2, relates to the drainage contract and Section 7 Item 2 relates to the Sewage contract and provides for contract termination:

"By the City as a consequence of the failure of the Engineer to comply with the terms, progress, or quality of work in a satisfactory manner, proper allowance being made for circumstances beyond the control of the Engineer."

After the brief recess Haas told the Council how his clients disagreed with the motion and how 92 percent of Federal and State funding on programs would be beneficial to the residents of Bay St. Louis. His clients would also like an opportunity to respond.

"We would like to respond, everything you have asked for we have given to you. Since I have been associated with Burk, I think it is a slap in my face," added Haas.

Council then moved to other business on its agenda, with virtually no reply to Haas.

Representing Burk and Associates in addition to Haas and Klienpeter were Jim Armbruster, vice president and treasurer; John Holtgrove and Charles Hill.

WELFARE:
A GREAT AMERICAN TRAGEDY

From humble beginnings as an energetic, self-sufficient nation where individual responsibility was a source of pride, America has drifted toward becoming a welfare state where the federal government feeds and shelters the population.

During my visits to the Fifth District, the people express their concern over a variety of issues such as inflation and the U.S. military posture.

On a recent visit, the point was driven home that the people also consider welfare a pressing concern.

Welfare, of course, was originally conceived as a modest plan to aid children who had lost a parent from death, disability or absence from home. But like so many other federal programs, the cost sky-rocketed and enforcement became lax.

Consider the following: Last year, the U.S. government spent $182 billion on income assistance programs; given 26 million poor people, this comes to more than $6,200 per person, or $24,800 for a family of four - well above the median income of $15,500 in 1977.

Obviously, the nation's poor aren't getting anywhere near that amount in welfare benefits. (If they were, there wouldn't be a single "poor person left in the U.S.")

Unfortunately, a large share of the money goes to support what some Members of Congress call the "poverty bureaucracy," chiefly HEW.

Last August, President Carter came forward with his plan to solve the problems of welfare. Despite the glitter that accompanied his announcement, his plan would cost the American people at least $37.1 billion, an increase of $17.8 billion from present costs, and would hardly solve any problems.

For example, the Carter plan would change the basic concept of welfare's role in American society by providing - for the first time - cash payments to unemployed single adults, childless couples and working families who are not blind, disabled or aged.

The plan would also revamp the eligibility test so that a single, able-bodied adult could own a house, expensive furniture, jewelry, electronic equipment and a car and still qualify for welfare.

The only provision mentioned in the proposal for controlling fraud would merely suggest that recipients of cash benefits regularly report on their income. But the loosely-worded proposal specifies neither the frequency nor the method of reporting.

I support a proposal that would tighten, not broaden, the welfare eligibility requirements, root out fraud and institute a real work requirement in return for welfare payments.

In this way, the entire system can be streamlined to correct abuses without eliminating aid to the needy.

I am urging the House Ways and Means Committee, which is now working on welfare reform, to bring out a measure that will clean up the system, restore a sense of pride, and work effectively for the truly needy people in this country.

A joint meeting of all school personnel will be held on Monday, August 21, at 2 p.m. in the High School Library located on Blue Meadow Road.

Elementary students in grades one through six living inside the city limits of Bay St. Louis will register at North Bay School.

Elementary students living inside the city limits of Waveland will register at Waveland Elementary School.

First through sixth grade students living outside the city limits of either Bay St. Louis or Waveland in the district's added territory will register at North Bay. All students 7-9 living anywhere within the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District will register at Bay Junior High School located on N. Second and Carroll Avenue. Students in grades 10-12 and living anywhere within the school district will register at Bay Senior High School on Blue Meadow Road.

Superintendent McCulloch stated that first grade students must be accompanied by their parents and bring their birth certificates proving that they will be six years old as of November 1, 1978.

The superintendent emphasized that in first through eighth grades, all students must have the following immunization shots for the 1978-79 school term according to Senate Bill 2850 of the Regular Session of the 1978 Legislature before they can officially enroll in school: diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, polio, measles, and rubella.

Parents must secure the special school certificates from local health department or a private physician. All teachers must have their health cards up-dated, McCulloch added.

The Bay-Waveland Separate School District embraces an area of approximately twenty-seven miles and serves a population of approximately 12,000 people.

The student population of the district for the 1977-78 school term was 2,100 and is served by two elementary schools with grades one through six, one junior high school with grades seven through nine, and one high school, grades 10-12.

The district is served by a five-member board of trustees. It is accredited by the State Accrediting Commission and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. The school district employs 100 full time classroom teachers and administrative staff.

The teacher-pupil ratio is one to 21. The district also employs three full time guidance counselors, ten special education instructors, two speech pathologists, and a school nurse.

In addition to the aforementioned specialists, the district employees eighteen teacher aides under Title I to work with students who have difficulty in reading and mathematics.

The high school offers fifty-eight Carnegie units in its curriculum. Seventeen units (16 academic and 1 non-academic) are required for graduation.

Approximately 66 percent of the class of 1977-78 is enrolled in college.

The High School, in cooperation with Pearl River Junior College, offers vocational-technical training in five areas to those students desiring vocational careers.

The high and junior high schools offer courses for remedial, average, and advanced students. The district operates 13 school buses and provides transportation for students living one mile or more from the school they attend.

The Bay-Waveland Municipal Separate School District will spend approximately $1,000 per student in ADA for the 1978-79 school year, not including capital outlay. This revenue will come from federal, state and local sources.

papers and books strewn about. The office of Mrs. Jewel McCaleb, school secretary, was also ransacked.

J. D. McCulloch, School Superintendent, said locks on all the doors were changed last fall.

"Incidents of this nature cause me to be real concerned about what could really happen. We are lucky the fire died out - where would we house the students? Where would we get the money to replace this building?" McCulloch said.

Bay St. Louis Chief of Police Douglas Williams has put his entire force to work in the attempt to apprehend the person or persons responsible.

Williams said, "I am even going to use auxiliary police to relieve regulars in some areas to put more people working on this fire."

"We have been checking for leads since yesterday morning and we will continue until we find the culprit. We can't tolerate this," added Williams.

According to assistant principal Roger James, the building was occupied until 4 p.m. Monday. The building was secured when he, Clarence Price, Mrs. McCaleb, Coach Barney Nease, Larry Pavolini, building custodian, and two CETA workers, Don Aker and Leo Garrett, went home for the day.

Cameron feared he may have lost some important letters in the fire. "There is really no way for me to tell if important letters were destroyed," Cameron allowed.

The door to Cameron's office had its glass broken during the forced entry. State Fire Marshall Cowart, of Wiggins, said he investigated the last November fire which was in the same office.

Soot from the fire spread into the office of Mrs. McCaleb and into Williams' office.

Included among those aiding in the investigation are State Fire Marshall Norman Cowart, Bay Fire Chief Richard Fayard, Asst. Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, Bay Fire Capt. Mike Williams, Fire Fighter Anthony Alexis, Fire Engineer Gerald Price III, Bay Police Douglas Williams, and Bay Police Investigator David Seller.

Correction

Echo editions of July 13 inadvertently listed Ms. Donna Nixon as part-time owner of the Slip and Taste Lounge on US-90. Lounge owner Charles Nixon reports Ms. Donna Nixon, his sister-in-law, has at no time had a proprietary or managerial interest in the business. The Echo regrets this error.

Council was unanimous in voting to cancel Burk's inspection contract on the Main Street project immediately.

Klienpeter told Council one reason for the big engineering fees is a State Highway Department rule calling for a review of all project changes by the Department.

Council adjourned after John Holtgrove of Burk presented a statement on a sewer survey in the annexed area.

Holtgrove reported some $95,000 remains in the City's sewer project and for a continuation in the Bouslog area, covering about 4,000 feet of sewer lines.

Council plans a study of the area to determine in which direction sewer extensions will serve the most people.

Grand Jury Report

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
JULY TERM, 1978

TO THE HONORABLE FLOYD J. LOGAN, CIRCUIT JUDGE, PRESIDING:

We, the Grand Jury, having been duly empaneled, sworn and charged at the July, 1978 Term, now wish to submit our final report.

We have been in session for four days, July 10th, the day we were empaneled and three days since, during which time we have considered 34 cases, passed 0 case to the next Grand Jury, returned 29 true indictments and 4 referred to other courts. One case was stricken from docket.

Further, this Grand Jury recommends that the January 1979 Grand Jury be furnished with a copy of this report as their first order of business.

HANCOCK COUNTY HOME FOR THE AGED

The Grand Jury visited the home for the aged and found it to be neat, clean and cheerful. Repairs recommended by the previous Grand Jury have been made or were in the process of being done.

We were concerned at the size of the staff. There is one full time person and one part time worker. It is recommended that additional personnel be added to the staff.

YOUTH COURT CENTER

We visited the County Youth Center and had a thorough briefing by the Youth Court Administrator. The facilities of the Youth Court presented an outstanding appearance. It is our recommendation that the Youth Court Center receive the full support of all County officials in order to build a detention and shelter facility for juveniles. A Youth Court detention and shelter center would alleviate juveniles being housed with, or next to adults.

HANCOCK GENERAL HOSPITAL

We have visited the Hancock General Hospital and found it to be expanding and improving facility. Construction was underway to replace doorways with a newer modern smoke safe system. The Grand Jury recommends that the Hancock General Hospital be given all possible assistance in repairs and improvements.

While it is understood that the primary purpose of a Hospital is care for the sick and injured, we feel that some provision should be made for those who visit and remain at the hospital. An area with tables, chairs and vending machines should be made available 24 hours a day.

HANCOCK COUNTY PORT AND HARBOR AND STENNIS INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

The Grand Jury did not visit these installations. Mr. Wilson Webre came before the Grand Jury and made statements concerning the condition of the Port Bienville and airport facilities. This Grand Jury recommends that the recommendations of previous Grand Juries be considered and implemented.

JAIL AND SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

We, the Grand Jury, toured the jail and Sheriff's office and are concerned about the inadequate facilities and equipment there is too little jail space, and too few deputies. There is also a problem with keeping department vehicle serviceable, and with pest control in the jail.

The facilities seem to be kept as neat and clean as possible under the prevailing condition. It is therefore recommended that the Board of Supervisors take steps to finance a new jail and office space for the Sheriff and his staff. The Board should also take steps to contract pest control services. These services should be performed at least twice a month. If such a contract exists the contractor should be required to live up to terms specified.

It is also recommended that the Sheriff's department be increased by at least three deputies to increase the number of deputies on duty at any one time. It is strongly recommended that department vehicles be replaced when they reach a maximum of 75,000 miles. It is believed that this will cut down on time lost to maintenance and cost of recurring repairs.

It is the opinion of this Grand Jury that the future growth of Hancock County is linked directly to the quality of protection and service afforded its citizens. The Grand Jury recommends that the Board of Supervisors strive to cooperate fully with the Sheriff's department to rectify the aforementioned shortcomings.

HANCOCK SCHOOLS

The County Superintendent of Schools appeared before the Grand Jury and commented on the condition of the County Schools. The superintendent discussed the need for a new Jr. Sr. High School in the Southern part of the County. There is a need for additional facilities and services for the handicapped and learning disabled.

The Grand Jury recommends that the Board of Supervisors keep informed on the enrollment at the county schools as well as the projected growth figures for the entire county.

Preliminary plans should be made to introduce a bond issue at such a time to prevent an overcrowding of schools.

FURTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

We respectfully request that the Board of Supervisors, the administration of the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland be furnished a copy of this report.

All of the Grand Jurors would like to express that we were happy and honored as members of the Grand Jury to serve.

We have completed our duties and respectfully ask to be recessed this the 18th day of July, 1978.

GEORGE S. ALLISON, GRAND JURY FOREMAN

SAFETY CORNER

SAFETY MANAGEMENT
Success in farming requires good management. To help assure continuing success, make accident prevention a management goal. Keep informed about safety. Inspect all equipment and facilities. Correct hazards as soon as possible. Take needed precautions before starting work—shields in place, needed protective equipment worn, etc. Train helpers, then see that they do things right. Be ready for medical, accident, fire and weather emergencies.

Hancock's six-flag history portrayed as 'unlike any other in all America'

S. GRADY THIGPEN
If you could have driven the present route of Highway 11 down through Mississippi in 1810 you would have passed out of the United States and into another nation when you drove through what is now Lumberton.

As you drove on south through what is now Poplarville, McNeill, Carriere, Picayune, Nicholson, Pearl River and Sibley you would have been traveling through the independent nation of West Florida.

You would have continued on through West Florida until you reached the middle of Lake Pontchartrain, when you would have re-entered the territory of the United States. This history of that part of South Mississippi lying south of the 31st degree of latitude is very different from that part of the state north of this line and is very different from the history of any other section of the United States.

The old line of demarcation between the English possessions, and the French and then the Spanish, was the 31st degree of latitude, which is the present northern boundary of Pearl River County.

By right of discovery, France had long laid claim to all this region but not until January, 1699, was any move made to possess and occupy it.

At that time D'Iberville anchored off what is now the Mississippi Coast.

He had been sent by the French government to explore and colonize Louisiana. He established his headquarters at Biloxi, which became the first capitol of Louisiana.

In 1717, Louisiana was handed over to a company of French speculators, headed by John Law. This company established their headquarters at Biloxi. Due to bad management and improper understanding of conditions in the new world the Law Scheme failed.

The whole area remained under the dominion of France until on March 10th, 1763, by the Treaty of Paris, France surrendered to England all her possession in North America east of the Mississippi River. At the same time Spain ceded to England her colonies of East and West Florida.

At about the same time the Island of New Orleans and the French territory, west of the Mississippi river were ceded by France to Spain. There had been a great realignment of territories.

Almost constant wars in Europe and the outcome of these wars brought great changes in the history of this part of the world.

When Spain became involved in a new war with England and in 1789, Don Bernard De Galvez, the alert Spanish governor of Louisiana, attacked and captured British forts at Baton Rouge, Mobile and Pensacola, bringing West Florida, which included what are now Pearl River and Hancock Counties, again under the flag of Spain.

The Spaniards held Louisiana, along with West Florida, until 1800 when all this area was ceded by Spain to Napoleon Bonaparte with all its metes and bounds, which carried it to the Perdido River in Florida.

Napoleon, with half of Europe at war with him and threatened with the sea power of England, found himself unable to take possession of Louisiana which at that time included Pearl River and Hancock Counties. Napoleon secretly sent his brother to New Orleans to try to work up a rebellion in favor of France, but the brother failed to arouse any interest.

The emperor's brother made his headquarters while on this mission at what is now known as Napoleon on the river below Picayune - that is what gave this point its name. To prevent the seizure of all this great territory by the British, Napoleon sold Louisiana to the United States on April 30, 1803.

Under the Louisiana Purchase, the United States claimed all this coastal region of South Mississippi and on over eastward to the Perdido River. But the Spaniards insisted that East Pearl River was the eastern boundary of Louisiana and not the Perdido. In this dispute the Spaniards proceeded to occupy all of West Florida with strong military forces. The United States at that time was not prepared to go to war, so tried to settle the dispute through diplomatic negotiations. This matter remained unsettled and in doubt until 1809.

West Florida, including Pearl River and Hancock Counties, was bounded on the north by the 31st degree of latitude - the old line of demarcation - on the south by the Gulf of Mexico and an imaginary line drawn through Lake Pontchartrain and Maurepas and the rivers of Amite and Manchac to the Mississippi River and at that time extended from the Apalachicola River in Florida to the Mississippi, including of course, Baton Rouge.

Over the years many thousands of Americans had settled up and down both sides of Pearl River and in the territory between the Pearl and the Mississippi under grants from both the Spanish and British governments.

These hardy settlers, practically all from the United States, became more and more dissatisfied with the frequent changes in government and with the many conflicting land claims. They liked neither the Spanish nor the British.

Numerous tracts of land were claimed by more than one person. When the English came in, they refused to recognize certain land claims that had been granted by Spain and vice versa.

The title to one of the old claims at Walkiah, a place worth much money, was so uncertain that a man named Parker, who had spent much money improving this place, sold his claim when a dispute arose for $15 in cash and left, saying that he was going to where he could buy a piece of land and it would belong to him.

Brilliant lawyers from up east moved into West Florida because of the great amount of litigation over land claims. One man said of his claim, "There are enough law suits in it to cost me more than it is worth."

Instead of getting better conditions got worse. In 1810 enough of these settlers banded together to seize the Spanish Fort at Baton Rouge. They organized a convention, adopted a flag and declared their independence with the name of the new nation as West Florida. They sent out military forces to force allegiance to the new nation. Later on that same year they applied as a sovereign state for admission as a state to the United States.

President Madison on the 28th of October 1810, no longer fearing the waning power of Spain, issued a proclamation declaring that West Florida was within the limits of Louisiana when ceded by France to the United States and directed Governor Claiborne, of Orleans territory, to take civil and military possession of same.

In pursuance of these orders Governor Claiborne took over West Florida without opposition. The American settlers had accomplished their main objective - the placing of their territory under the jurisdiction of the United States.

For a time chaos reigned in this area. Bands of Jay-hawkers, brigands and robbers roamed this section. At one time there were big warehouses, built by buccaneers, at Gainesville for the storing of goods of all kinds which had been hi-jacked from ships in the Gulf of Mexico.

A scramble now developed as to what would be done with the territory comprising West Florida. George Poindexter, a man of great ability and later governor of Mississippi, was Mississippi's territorial representative in Congress. He took all possible measures to get all of West Florida added to the territory of Mississippi. In this he was opposed by Louisiana interests who wanted it all added to Louisiana. Some few plugged for a new state.

A compromise was reached with the lines that now prevail, Mississippi getting all the territory from East Pearl River to St. Stephens Meridian, which is the Mississippi-Alabama line today.

With the raising of the United States flag over this new territory, five flags had flown over it - the French, the Spanish, the British, West Florida and the stars and stripes of the United States. Then in 1861, the Bonnie Blue Flag of the Confederate States of America was unfurled, making six flags in all to fly over what is now our home. No other section in all America has such an interesting history - no other section has a history like ours.

Most drivers ignore Right-turn-on-red

A law passed by the 1977 session of the Mississippi Legislature is being ignored by a large portion of the state's population, according to Southern District Highway Commissioner W. A. Pyron.

"Traffic, especially in crowded urban areas, is added, urging all motorists to remember they can turn right at most street intersections even though the traffic signal is red.

The 1977 statute says that a driver may turn right on any red traffic signal if the way is clear and the intersection is not otherwise marked.

The Commissioner said it has been called to his attention by law enforcement officials and others that many motorists are waiting for the light to change to green before turning even though the traffic is clear.

Pyron said, "The law was designed to speed-up the flow of traffic, but if drivers fail to take advantage of it, it might as well not be on the books. This is true not only in the larger cities but in the smaller, rural towns also. Even where there is only one or two traffic signals in a town, people are not using the law."

"As the traffic continues to get heavier in every town and city all motorists should take every advantage to make it easier on themselves and others if they can safely and courteously do so," said the commissioner.

Pyron is now back full strength after almost a year of recuperation from a near fatal auto wreck last fall. He has indicated his plans now call for extensive travel throughout the southern district during the next several months.

VA News

The Veterans Administration employs some 106,000 women or 52 per cent of the agency's full-time workforce.

GI home loan eligibility can be used an unlimited number of times provided the veteran applicant has no outstanding VA guaranteed loan.

More than 62 per cent of the five million veterans of the Vietnam Era who have trained under the GI Bill used this valuable entitlement to attend college.

Max Cleland, 35, the tenth administrator of Veterans Affairs, is the first Vietnam veteran and the youngest person to hold the agency's top post since VA's inception in 1930.

VA operates the largest medical system in the nation - a system that daily treats an average of 185,000 patients in 172 hospitals, 217 outpatient clinics, 88 nursing homes, and 16 domiciliarys.

For information or assistance in applying for veterans benefits, write, call or visit your nearest VA office or a veterans service organization.

The Veterans Administration's compensation and pension program annually distributes some $8.1 billion to 5.5 million veterans of military service and survivors.

The VA is conducting a drive to encourage Vietnam Era veterans to use their GI Bill education benefits. Called "Operation Boost," the campaign is focusing especially on 11 states where fewer than 50 per cent of those eligible have taken GI Bill training.

FARMERS GETTING FEISTIER

By Ed Blake - AG Affairs

For a reportedly 'conservative' farm organization, this American Farm Bureau Federation seems to be getting mighty feisty these days. Or maybe it's the affairs farm organizations are involved in that are putting on the heat. At any rate, front burner affairs are with us in abundance and any timidity this farm organization may have had in the past seems to be relegated to the past.

Last week American Farm Bureau Federation Allan Grant of California called on President Carter to call for the resignation of U. N. Ambassador Andrew Young whose remarks about political prisoners in the U.S. have stirred up a hornets nest of controversy.

In a telegram to the President, Grant said Young was an embarrassment to the Administration and to all Americans. Text of the wire follows:

U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations Andrew Young continues to be an embarrassment to your Administration and to all Americans. His latest irresponsible remarks about political prisoners in the United States indicate that he does not appreciate, or understand our system of self-government.

"On the basis that this country's citizens deserve the highest caliber of reliable and responsible representative to the United Nations, we ask that you immediately call for the resignation of Ambassador Young."

That candor is no less than the announced position of the nation's largest farm organization the previous day when Grant called for an immediate one-year moratorium on new federal regulations.

In requesting the moratorium Grant said the result of such a moratorium would be a significant brake on inflation. "It would assist the President in his discussions at the economic summit in Bonn. It would assist Ambassador Strauss in trade negotiations in Geneva and it would help stabilize the dollar," Grant said.

In a release accompanying the request Grant said that Farm Bureau recognizes that real success in controlling inflation will come only with an end to federal deficit spending, but cited the moratorium as an immediate action to bring immediate results.

He noted that Dr. Barry P. Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, has estimated that additional regulations coming up for action by federal agencies could cost U.S. businesses and consumers $35 billion dollars. In addition he estimated that regulations could impose capital costs of $60 billion for equipment, construction and engineering.

Grant said that more than $4.5 billion will be spent in 1978 on federal regulatory activities. Every dollar spent by federal agencies in the regulation process causes business and industry to spend an additional $20. This means at least a $90 billion outlay, even without the imposition of new regulations.

For an immediate major savings, Grant asked the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) be disbanded.

Grant said, "If, as suspected, the operation of OSHA has brought about no significant decrease in agricultural and industrial accidents, we ask that OSHA be eliminated and the responsibility for safety and health be returned to local authorities."

The American Farm Bureau Federation last year launched a campaign for the repeal of OSHA as a major objective in 1977 and continues this objective.

Recent rulings concerning the tolerance of clean air inside cotton gins exemplify the over-reaction of OSHA to health threats in industry. Under the new regulations gins will be forced into expensive new filtering systems when the incidence of damage to human health of cotton gin employees remains apparently zero.

IRS sets date for preparers license exam

The deadline for filing an application to take the IRS Special Enrollment Examination is August 15, 1979, the Internal Revenue Service announced this week. The examination, to be given on September 25 and 26, 1979, is given annually to qualify persons who are neither CPAs nor attorneys to represent clients before the IRS.

Persons who want to take the examination must submit Form 2587, Application for the 1978 Special Enrollment Examination, to the Director, Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. 20224. No extensions of time to file applications will be granted beyond August 14, 1979, the IRS said.

The application must be accompanied by a recent photo of the applicant, which will be used for identification purposes only, and a check or money order for the examination fee, made payable to the Internal Revenue Service.

No fees will be refunded to an applicant who fails to take the examination, but they may be applied as a credit to next year's application fee. Circumstances under which credits may be authorized are provided on application Form 2587.

The 1978 examination will have an increased emphasis on Federal tax laws as they apply to business operations such as sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations.

Publication 486, "Requirements for Internal Revenue Service Enrollment and Special Enrollment Examination," identifies sources of tax information that may be helpful in preparing for the examination.

The examination will include true or false and multiple choice questions in all of the four parts of the examination. Application Form 2587, copies of Publication 486 and Publication 693, Sample Booklet "1977 Special Enrollment Examination Questions and Answers," are available from the IRS District Office at 301 N. Lamar Street, Jackson.

YOU AND YOUR PET

EUTHANASIA

Euthanasia is a Greek term that literally means "easy death." Today the term is generally translated as mercy killing. However you define it, the meaning is the same - the quick, painless death of a seriously ill (or unwanted) living creature.

Because of advances in veterinary medicine, more pet owners now must deal with the problem of the aged or chronically ill pet. Many pet owners find it difficult to even discuss the possibility of their pet's death, even though the pet is increasingly uncomfortable.

Some signs of advanced age in dogs and other animals are: arthritis, loss of bladder control, and certain types of cataracts. The aged dog may be reluctant to move from bed except for meals and elimination, because of the pain from an arthritic condition. And he may no longer be able to wait until you come home from work for elimination or urine or feces.

In such cases, your veterinarian will be able to evaluate the amount of discomfort your pet is suffering and can keep you informed about your pet's condition. It may be possible to administer maintenance therapy to increase your pet's comfort.

Despite all your efforts, there may be a time when you have to decide about the possibility of a humane death for a suffering pet. If you conclude that you should let your veterinarian stop your pet's discomfort, don't feel guilty about it. The procedure is generally quick and painless.

The most humane method of euthanasia is the injection of an overdose of a barbiturate drug, similar to the products used by veterinarians as anesthetics. The animal is quite literally "put to sleep." It loses consciousness within seconds and death follows almost immediately.

Barbiturates are usually used in the private veterinary office. However, most animal shelters use a rapid decomposition chamber, which can accommodate several animals at a time.

In this procedure, oxygen is mechanically removed from the chamber, and the animals quickly become unconscious and die. Personnel at shelters using this procedure claim the animals inside the chamber feel little or no pain, except for a dizziness caused by the decrease in oxygen.

They refer to the experiences of persons who participated in high altitude-low oxygen testing, where the results showed minimal physical distress. There are other less-commonly used drugs and procedures that will also effectively result in the death of a sick or unwanted animal.

Although it may seem cruel, euthanasia at the local animal shelter is preferable to the practice of turning a healthy but unwanted pet out on the street to fend for itself.

The pet owner who is unwilling to find a home for his pet among friends or refuses to visit a shelter is not really giving his dog or cat a "last chance" on a city street or country lane. Rather this individual is forcing the pet into a miserable, underfed, unsheltered existence and is creating a public nuisance.

FOOD CONSERVATION

Each year the average American wastes one-fourth to one-third of the food he buys. And each American has a 50 percent chance of becoming ill with a food-borne illness annually. Also shocking is the fact that more accidents happen in the kitchen than in any other part of the home.

Since mealtime should be enjoyable, without interruption caused by these disasters, the 4-H food conservation and safety project was designed. This project stresses the proper handling of food to prevent food-borne illness, serious accidents and loss of food dollars.

Through this project, the 4-H'er learns how to store foods promptly and properly, practice good personal hygiene when handling foods, and how to prepare, transport, store, and serve foods for backyard cookings, overnight camping and leisure-time activities.

Group activities may include bake sales, food booths at shows and fairs, bike hikes and picnics, canoe and/or camping trips and cooking contests.

On the community level, club members may assist an elderly or handicapped person with harvesting and preserving fruits and vegetables, prepare and package tray trays for nursing home patients, prepare food for a bereaved family or sick person, adopt a grandparent and share servings of food, work as a volunteer at a local hospital, assist the Extension Home Economist or Home Economics Teacher with the teaching of classes on food conservation and safety or help neighborhood senior citizen clubs with food-related events.

The 4-H'er will also learn the variety of foods that can be prepared outdoors for family picnics, cookouts, backpacking or camping trips.

To learn safe handling and conservation of foods, the 4-H'er learns new ways of transporting and storing foods, packaging techniques for transporting and storing food at campsites and selection of foods.

In the project, topics for talks, demonstrations and exhibits may include refrigeration, germs, value of food conservation and safety practices, safety in hot and cold packing, safe handling of foods for outdoor activities, outdoor cooking safety tips, and factors affecting frozen food quality.

Donor of this project area is Reynolds Metals Company of Richmond, Va. It sponsors four medals of honor on the county level, a state trip to National 4-H Congress and six national $1,000 educational scholarships.

PRC fees climb, president cites utilities as cause

Most fees have increased at Pearl River Junior College for the coming school year but no more than costs at other junior colleges and universities within the state, the college's president reported.

"We have had to increase our fees a few dollars," said President Marvin R. White, "but so has everyone else in the education business."

The fee hike is minimum to the students attending Pearl River, and is a necessity in order that the college can provide the students and community the same course work and facilities as in the past, he said.

Even with the increase, students can attend Pearl River Junior College for two years for less than what they'll spend at a state university for one year," Dr. White said.

Most of the extra money received this year is earmarked for utilities. "I'm sure everyone can appreciate the predicament we find ourselves in each year as the light, water and gas bills keep climbing," the president said.

Most of the PRC fee increases are in the vocational-technical areas and are for room and board. The actual matriculation fee was raised to $130 per semester from the $115 figure last fall.

However, this increase was approved before the Spring semester by the Pearl River Board of Trustees.

Tuition for out-of-state students and rental books remained the same. It will still cost an out-of-state student $200 per semester and an out-of-district student an extra $45 to attend Pearl River $45 to attend Pearl River.

Book service for academic and technical students, which are enrolled with at least 12 hours or more, is only $25 per semester. Fees for books for part-time students is rated according to hours carried. All vocational-technical shop fees were increased due to the jump in materials used in the different courses. Welding and machine shop students are faced with the largest increase as welding supplies jumped from $90 to $120 per semester, and machine shop supplies increased from $45 to $75 per semester.

Auto mechanics, carpentry, electricity, heating and air conditioning, masonry and diesel mechanic students will pay $60 instead of the usual $45. General clerical and data processing fees jumped to $15 and $40 per semester.

A room in one of the PRC air conditioned dormitories, other than Marion Hall, will cost a student $322.50 per semester and this fee includes a five day meal ticket. A room with a seven day meal ticket is $376.50. These figures are up about $50 to $60 per boarding student. Marion Hall, a three story resident hall for girls cost $2.50 more per semester.

Room deposits were increased to $25 and bus transportation fees were hiked from $36 to $48 per semester.

A student living at home, but riding a bus to school, can attend Pearl River for $203 per semester and that includes matriculation and books.

Several grants, scholarships, and other financial assistance are available to students attending PRC.

For more information contact the director of admissions at 795-4558 or the vocational-technical center at 795-2288.

There is a river that flows from Calvary where all mankind may wash and be clean. This "River" has never lost its power or the meaning of it flows. This "River" is the shed Blood of Jesus. His name is Wonderful. I don't know about you, but to me, those five letters of the name of Jesus remind me of David's five stones, picked up from the brook, by which he slew Goliath.

To this Name all redeemed and Angels of God bow. In the River of God, the human Name of Christ (Jesus) had lain for centuries awaiting the day when it would be put into the sling of the Cross, to bring about the downfall of the Devil. The sling became the Cross at Calvary and Jesus the Rock that defeated Satan. Hallelujah!

The five bars of the tabernacle were never as wonderful as these five little letters of His Name, for they hold together His Church now and right on into eternity.

Just whisper it on earth and it, Beloved, will sound like thunder claps in Heaven. Why not take the Name of Jesus upon your lips and let it be there, until, time sweeps us into eternity together.

Health and Safety

From the American Medical Association

Poison ivy season is here again.

You may have handled poison ivy last year and escaped without an itch, but don't push your luck.

No one is permanently immune to poison ivy, oak or sumac, the Mississippi State Medical Association reminds.

Your next meeting with this pesky plant could take place in your own yard, as well as in the woods and fields.

Poison ivy, oak and sumac have appeared in city gardens. Poison ivy sometimes forms a beautiful vine up the side of a house.

Poisonous oils from these plants can come your way in the smoke of a neighbor's trash fire, or on your dog's coat.

If you can detect poison plants, you can often avoid them. Poison ivy and its close kind, poison oak, are three-leaved plants which may grow as low bushes or climbing vines. They may be mixed with honeysuckle and other climbers. Poison sumac, an eastern swamp plant with seven to thirteen leaflets and small white berries, usually grows as a shrub.

If you have been exposed, carefully remove your clothes and thoroughly wash all affected areas with warm water and soap. Sponge with a 50 to 70 percent alcohol solution. Using rubber gloves, clean your clothes in an oil solvent and soapy water. Dry them in the sun.

Ivy, oak and sumac poisoning start with itching and redness within a few hours to several days after exposure. Watery pimples appear. There is no cure for the big itch.

Wet dressings of boric acid or Epsom salts solution bring some relief. Calamine lotion reduces itching. If the inflammation is extensive, see your physician.

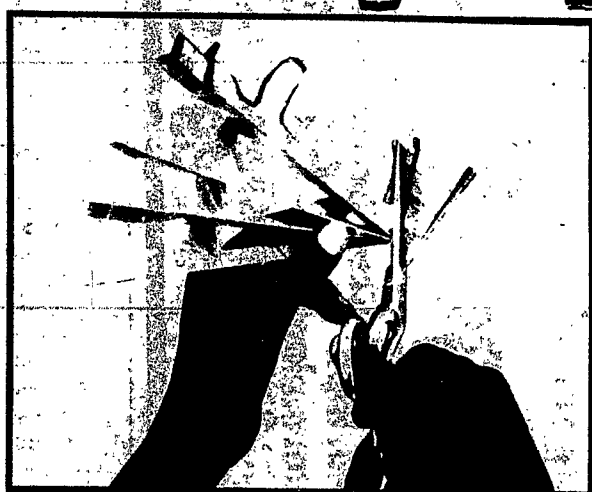

If you know that you will be near poison plants or working with them, have your druggist make a 10 percent sodium perborate ointment and apply on exposed skin. After contact with the plant, wash off ointment and scrub all clothing - even shoelaces.

QUACK?

By Michla Richter

Ages 3-6. $5.95. Published March 15th.

"Duck is all alone and lonely! So he goes searching for someone who will quack back. He meets creatures that cackle, yelp, honk, moo, bellow, neigh, and gobble, but none of them answer his quack."

Until... With no text other than the noises of all the creatures duck meets, this winsome story will win the hearts of young children (and their parents), who will want to read it and act it out again and again.

Michla Richter's line drawings, accented with sunny yellow, are as engaging as his tale.

Michla Richter is a well-known contributor to The New Yorker. He also drew a newspaper-panel, "Strictly Richter," which was carried in papers all over the world for years.

Four volumes of his cartoons have been published, as well as "Eric and Matilda" and "Geedup and Friend" for children. He is married and lives in Provincetown, Mass.

Nurses strive for increased status as health professionals

An official of the Mississippi Nurses Association District Five, which includes Hancock County, has termed the issue of nursing compensation without physician approval "a topic of deep concern to all registered nurses in the district."

District Five's Ronnie Wesovich said the issue was championed by Hawaii Senator Daniel K. Inouye at a recent American Nurses Association convention in Honolulu.

Introduced as one of nursing's greatest friends, Inouye urged nurses to make their number one target the elimination of the catch phrase - "to be performed under the supervision of a physician."

A champion of the independent reimbursement of nurses without a physician's signature, Inouye said he had seldom seen a doctor until he had become a member of the armed forces. His health needs had been met by nurses. Backgrounding the audience on several bills he has introduced to gain third-party reimbursement for nurses, Inouye said there are two reasons why he is conducting this effort:

"The successful passage of these bills would provide a bargaining position for nurses to insist on full equality under a national health insurance program."

"The legislation might help present health programs to move away from their current emphasis on providing reimbursement of sickness and purely medically oriented procedures to reimbursement for the preventive aspects of health care."

"It is my belief," emphasized the Senator, "that the nursing profession has been unsurpassed in its progressive stance on the truly preventive aspects of health care."

association's 51st annual meeting.

Commenting that nurses had a better image than doctors and lawyers, Senator Inouye stated that nursing has more political muscle than any other professional organization in this country.

In urging nursing to flex its political muscle, Inouye said, "ultimately it will be up to the nursing profession to pursue independent reimbursement. It will be up to you with your large numbers and your positive image to convince Congress that nursing practice is unique and that the nurse is a true health care professional."

Pearce is new PRC counselor Torbit joins Vo-tech faculty

Six instructors were hired by the Pearl River Junior College Board of Trustees at its July meeting last week, including two Bay St. Louis men.

For the Poplarville campus, Robert Earl Eaton, Hattiesburg, Belinda Holden, Poplarville; and Eileen Walker Keefe, Covington, La., have been employed as associate degree nursing instructors.

Woody D. Pearce, Bay St. Louis, was named counselor and James A. Torbit, also of Bay St. Louis, was hired as auto mechanic instructor for the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center.

Roy Purvis Foster, Hattiesburg, will be the metal trades instructor for the Forrest County Vo-Tech Center.

On recommendation by Dr. Marvin R. White, president of the college, a progress payment of $82,846 was approved for Hanberry Construction Company of Hattiesburg for work completed on the Lamar County Vo-Tech Center in Purvis. A payment to Landry & Landry, architects, for $1,245 was also approved by the PRC Board.

A motion was made by Frank Fortenberry, Columbia, and seconded by W. O. Moody of Poplarville, to approve the following policy on hiring:

"All interested employees shall be encouraged to apply for positions that become vacant at Pearl River Junior College. Consideration will be given to college employees who have equal qualifications for positions that come available at the Poplarville campus or one of the three PRC centers."

In other action, the PRC Board increased college reimbursement for travel in private vehicles from 12 cents per mile to 16 cents per mile effective July 1.

The motion was made by W. O. Moody and seconded by Jack Stewart, of Pearl River County, after discussion of Senate Bill Number 2412, which recommended such action.

The motion was made by W. O. Moody and seconded by Jack Stewart, of Pearl River County, after discussion of Senate Bill Number 2412, which recommended such action.

Willis Lott, director of admissions, gave a report on the enrollment of the Associate Degree Nursing Program and the second semester of summer school.

A motion was made by Dennis Fortenberry of Prentiss and seconded by Frank Fortenberry, allowing the president to dispose of obsolete books at the bookstore and to purchase new books for the coming year.

Edmond T. Mitchell of Nicholson replaced J. J. Holcomb as a representative of Pearl River County.

In final action the claim docket of expenditures for the month of June in the amount of $88,197 was approved.

Republican Women study campaigning

Campaign organization will be topic of discussion at an upcoming Mississippi Federation of Republican Women workshop to be held in Biloxi on Tuesday, July 25th.

The executive director of the National Federation of Republican Women, Mary Ellen Miller of Washington, will be the workshop leader. Topics will include campaign organization, volunteers, voter identification, and research and polling.

Also addressing the workshop will be Rose Cochran, wife of senatorial candidate Thad Cochran.

Presiding over the day long event will be Dene Pace, President of the Mississippi Federation of Republican Women and the local presidents of the co-hosting counties, Mrs. Ruby Lie, Hancock County; Mrs. Lee Bonin, Harrison County; and Mrs. Mary Boland, Jackson County.

The statewide workshop will be held at the Biloxi Community Center, 500 Howard Avenue. Activities will begin at 9 a.m.

Information may be obtained from Mrs. Jerry Bonin in Biloxi, Mrs. J. H. Life in Waveland or Mrs. R. J. Boland in Pascagoula.

Parent consent waiver sought in drug abuse

In separate June meetings, the Mississippi Advisory Council on Drug Abuse and the Mississippi Advisory Council on Alcohol Abuse made a commitment to work for the passage of legislation which will remove the requirement of parental consent for minors 15 years of age and older to receive drug abuse, alcohol abuse and mental health treatment from a licensed physician or psychologist.

The legislation, which has failed in the Mississippi Legislature for the past two years, is similar to a present law which allows minors to receive treatment for venereal disease from physicians without the consent of a parent or guardian.

By waiving parental consent in obtaining treatment for drug, alcohol and mental health problems, it is felt that treatment will be more readily sought by a child who fears his parents' reaction to his problem.

It will also free physicians and psychologists to treat such minors without the fear of legal reprisal.

The Councils' recommendation of the passage of this legislation has been submitted to the Mississippi Board of Mental Health with the request that the Board submit it to the Mississippi Legislature.

Bay teacher official files report on NEA convention

Mrs. Judy Barrett of Waveland, vice-president of Bay St. Louis local, National Education Association, said Mississippi's teacher-delegates opposed an amendment to the NEA constitution to prohibit creation of dual NEA affiliates within a state at the group's recent annual meeting in Dallas.

The amendment failed before the 10,000 delegates from 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Overseas Education Association.

A dues increase, also opposed by the Mississippi delegation, was passed making national dues $42 for the 1979-80 school year. Currently dues are $35. Eight dollars of the $42 will go for UniServe Field Representative funding.

After 1979-80, national dues will be computed on a percentage basis of the national average elementary and secondary classroom teacher salary, Mrs. Barrett explained.

An amendment to delete a provision prohibiting the national president more than two successive terms also failed, as did a proposal to organize support personnel such as bus drivers, cafeteria workers and teachers aides.

"The convention delegates gave strong support to the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment," she noted.

Also, the convention will boycott states that have not passed the ERA and a collective bargaining law, the local official pointed out.

The representative assembly of the National Education Association supported a resolution for a national health program. This resolution was opposed by the Mississippi delegates.

Approximately 75 Mississippi educators represented the MAE, state affiliate of the National Education Association.

"The dues increase proposal was probably the hottest item at the convention this year," said Burt Barrett, MAE field representative for this area.

"The convention week is a long, hectic, tiring week but it is the one time each year that the voice of each of NEA's 1.8 million members can be heard through their delegate representative," he said.

Standards required include such items as tested drinking water, milk supply, refrigeration, physical exams, medical inspections, health log, latrines, waste disposal, state and local permits, licenses, precamp health, safety, and sanitation inspections.

The camp directors, William Prat and Robert Whitaker, and their staffs received special commendations.

Both camps will close Saturday. The New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a member of the United Way.

Scout camp receives "A" rating

The New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, camps in Hancock County and Slidell both received the "A" National Standard rating on recent inspections.

Richard F. Knight, a Bogalusa attorney, and C. F. Gray, a Baton Rouge Boy Scout of America board member, headed the official inspection party.

This objective review of the camps operation, facilities, equipment, staff and program qualified Camp Salmen Slidell and Salmen Scout Reservation in North Hancock County for this national award.
